About

For the service learning project, we went to the Rafael Hernández K-8 School and taught 2nd and 3rd graders Chinese. Every week, the kids were taught a different topic, such as number, colors, or fruits, and also learned about various aspects of Chinese culture.

Tiffany 杨灵灵

- Planned lessons that would engage and interest the students.
- Interacted with the students through games and hands-on activities that tested Chinese knowledge such as worksheets and coloring pages.
- To ensure that the students remembered and understood material being taught to them, the lessons emphasized repetition.
- It was difficult to get the students to quiet down at first since the students had a lot of energy, but it got easier as the class went on
- It was rewarding to see the students remember material taught in past lessons.

Jolene 岡本佳玲

- Goal: teach material that the kids could remember easily and use in their daily lives
- Planned lessons, found songs the kids could sing along to, and created engaging Powerpoints that would make the kids interested in the lesson
- Teaching the kids was hard but exciting, and I'm glad I got to use my Chinese speaking skills outside of class
- It was really rewarding seeing the kids excited to learn Chinese and remembering vocabulary from previous lessons

Anastasi 安达西

- Created an interactive class for 2nd and 3d graders using PowerPoint presentations, handouts and songs
- Glad to see that they had already picked up a lot of chinese words and phrases from previous classes and everyone was able to participate
- As a first introduction with numbers they were able to memorize quickly and be able to count as well as say their age in chinese
- It was an extremely pleasant and rewarding experience both for the children as well as for us

Annette 麥安寧

- Created lesson plans for 2nd and 3rd classes to learn basic Chinese vocabulary words
- Used a variety of educational media such as children's Chinese songs, worksheets, and physical activities
- I was very impressed with the students' ability to remember information from previous lessons!
- One challenging aspect was trying to control an entire classroom of excited kids
- They showed enthusiasm and it was rewarding to see them complete our activities
